FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The students gathered around, all waiting for the action. There was silence, then the countdown.

"Four.....three.....two.....one. Houston, we have a lift-off."

It wasn't a rocket launch at NASA but a good simulation. On a sunny morning with just a slight breeze, the students attending the "Voyage to Mars" camp launched their handmade rockets.

Sixth, seventh and eighth graders from Morgan, Elliott and Rowan counties attended the five-day "Space Science and Exploration Camp," sponsored by Morehead State University's Office of Continuing Education.

The camp was designed to answer questions about the Red Planet and the discovery process should travelers wish to make the voyage. There was discussion of what Mars looks like, observations with telescopes, model solar systems and Starlab Planetarium. The fourth day of camp was designated for rocket construction and launch.

Instruction was provided by Danny Blevins, a NASA educator who trained at Langley Research Center in Hampton, Va.; Mike Burchett, a retired teacher who works as an outreach instructor with the East Kentucky Science Center in Prestonsburg; and David Howard, science instructor at Elliott County High School.

Blevins, one of three solar system ambassadors in the U.S. and a Johnson County teacher, was pleased to be a part of the educational process that talked about the NASA program, jet propulsion labs and space exploration.

"The students were really knowledgeable," Blevins said. "I can see some of them going on to work for NASA."

While there were many advantages of the camp, Howard was encouraged by the interest of the students. "This was a small group, they were here because they wanted to be and (they) were very motivated. They explored ideas they hadn't thought about before."

The students also were given an understanding of how NASA operates and how money is appropriated, Howard said.

(MORE)

During the rocket launch, the students were concerned with when the nose cone would come off; when the parachute would come out; and how far the wind would carry their rocket.

From the comments, the week offered a pleasant experience for the future space explorers.

"Science is one of my best subjects," said Katie Brown of West Liberty. "I have really enjoyed the camp."

Kinsey Whitt, also of West Liberty, said that building the rockets was among the highlights of the week. "Making space rovers from candy was fun, too," she said.

"This really got their minds going," offered Karen Lewis, who had worked with the students throughout the week. "They had to decide what needed to be addressed if they were going to Mars. They asked good questions," said the AmeriCorps member who works with Morgan County Schools.

On the last day of camp, students took a field trip to the Challenger Learning Center in Hazard.

Cutlines:

- 1---Katie Brown, left, and Kinsey Whitt, both of West Liberty, prepared their rockets for launch.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Before ending the spring semester, Morehead State University's Speech Team honored its members at an awards reception.

Receiving honors were:

*Summer Copley, Elkhorn City freshmen, and Alisha Andress, Fort Mitchell junior, Harlen Hamm Award for Dedication.

*Amanda Day, Morehead sophomore, Team Spirit Award.

*Kami Carson, Washington Court House, Ohio, senior, Most Improved Speaker in Interpretation.

*Amy Aschenauer, Ashland sophomore, Most Improved Speaker in Prepared Speaking.

*Tami Shannon, Hillsboro, Ohio, freshman, Most Improved Speaker in Limited Prepared Speaking.

*Liz Haynes, Lexington sophomore, Most Improved Overall Speaker.

*Jason Hale, Wellington senior, Outstanding Team Leadership Award.

*Jessica McCarty, Farmers senior, 4-Year member of Service Award.

Dallas Sammons, associate director of housing, was presented the Volunteer Service Award. This recognition is presented to the faculty or staff member that has provided helpful contributions to the program. Sammons assisted with team travel on numerous occasions.

Dr. Robert Willenbrink, chair of the Department of Communication and Theatre, and Dr. Michael Seelig, dean of the Caudill College of Humanities, received awards for their support of the program.

The MSU speech team wrapped up its season in mid-March when they competed in the International Speech Tournament in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada. An estimated 200 students from 15 different colleges and universities competed in the different speaking categories.

Andress won the championship in the Cultural Tour. The first place is equivalent to a national championship.

"We were very excited about our students' achievements this year," MSU speech coach Lisa Shemwell said. "We have competed in the international competition two years previously (Portugal and France). This is the first time we had a finalist."

McCarty was a semifinalist in "impromptu speaking" and finished ninth overall. Day and Carson also participated in the competition.

MAYORS ELECTED AT KENTUCKY BOYS STATE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Police Department has joined the tens of thousands of officers from law enforcement agencies in all 50 states who are participating in the Highway Safety Program, "You Drink & Drive. You Lose," which runs through July 13.

Through coordinated enforcement efforts with local law enforcement agencies and statewide, they will conduct sobriety checkpoints and saturation patrols in high crash locations to identify and arrest impaired drivers.

The "You Drink & Drive. You Lose." campaign offers this advice to everyone:

- *Don't risk it -- If you plan to drive, don't drink or use any drugs.
- *Choose a sober designated driver before celebrating.
- *Take mass transit, a taxicab or ask a friend to drive you home.
- *Spend the night where the activity is being held.
- *Report impaired drivers to law enforcement.
- *Always wear your safety belt.

The You Drink & Drive. You Lose. National Crackdown, launched in December 2002, is a comprehensive effort focused on highly visible law enforcement and paid advertising to deter impaired driving.

It is estimated that approximately 560 deaths will occur on the highways during the Independence Day holiday season, with 55 percent involving impaired drivers.

During 2001, there were 231 killed in Kentucky, involving individuals with a blood alcohol level of 0.01 or above.

Additional information is available by calling MSU's Police Department at (606) 783-2035.

July 3, 2003

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A Maysville senior has been elected president of the Student Government Association at Morehead State University for the 2003-04 academic year.

Joshua R. Gruenke, a government major, also will serve as the student member of MSU's Board of Regents.

Gruenke, the son of James and Paulette Gruenke, has been a member of SGA for three years. He has observed happenings around campus and is now ready to implement the things he has learned. "I want to make things even better," he said.

A strong proponent for students' rights, Gruenke believes that the college experience should be among the best years of ones life. "I will encourage them to get involved," he said. "There is more to college than class. If they keep a proper balance, they can have a good experience."

Among those student concerns Gruenke will address are establishing smoking areas outside classroom buildings and clarification of the attendance policy. He also supports an addition to the Wellness Center.

"I would like to have a weight-lifting facility," Gruenke said. "That would be advantageous for students."

Actively involved on campus, he worked with the campus climate survey, as part of the Affirmative Action Committee; was vice president for administration with the Student Alumni Ambassadors; member of standards committee with Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity; and was vice president of Order of Omega. He also was involved with the Student Activities Council for three years, serving as chair of the late-night activities this year.

During his association with SGA, he was a freshman representative, at-large sophomore member, chair of the Student Life Committee, and vice president for administration last year.

After graduating from MSU, Gruenke plans to continue his education at Southern Illinois University and study criminal or constitutional law. He has been leaning toward this profession after taking a civil liberties class under Dr. William C. Green, professor of government. "I believe everyone is innocent until proven guilty and I want to defend everyone's rights," he said.

SGA officers

Gruenke stresses the importance of getting a good education, something he believes he is accomplishing at Morehead State. "Education is definitely a bargain," he said. "The classes are of minimal size with 'Class A' professors who are dedicated to their subjects."

Also elected as officers for the coming year are:

*Gena Boyle of Louisville, a senior government major, executive vice president. She is the daughter of Shelia Brewer.

*Morgan Battrell of Ft. Mitchell, a junior secondary English education major, vice president for administration. He is the son of Joseph and Sherida Dougherty.

*William Ted Moore of Louisa, a senior economics major, vice president for finance. He is the son of William H. and Darla Moore.

*Laura Ashley Swonger of Lebanon, Ohio, a junior art education major, vice president for campus involvement. She is a member of the Art Club and Chi Omega social sorority.

*Peyton Allen Reynolds of Morehead, a junior business major, vice president for public relations.

MOREHEAD, Ky.----The award-winning Bluegrass band No Tools Loaned will be the opening act at the next edition of the popular "Americana Crossroads Live" concert series at Morehead State University on Friday, July 25.

The Frankfort-based band will take the stage at Duncan Recital Hall at 7:30 p.m. to kick off the free event, which will include an 8:30 p.m. set by the Jeanette Williams Band.

The No Tools Loaned band members describe their sound as "third generation Bluegrass," and each one contributes to the unique style. The band, on its self-titled debut release, performs traditional Bluegrass music as well as its own original material, while sprinkling the mix with a little western swing and classic rock and roll.

One of the area's premier Bluegrass bands, No Tools Loaned band mates "manage to blend each member's deep respect and knowledge of Bluegrass tradition with the whole group's up-to-date attitude and sparkling fresh sound," said Tom Adler, radio program host.

The band includes: Scotty Campbell (banjo, vocals), Paul Williams (mandolin, vocals), Wesley Atha (guitar, vocals) and Jack Burch (bass fiddle, vocals).

No Tools Loaned was granted the Performing Arts Award by the Frankfort Arts Foundation in 2002, and has been lauded for the band members' musical expertise in mixing guitar, bass, Dobro, mandolin and banjo playing with four-part harmonies.

"Americana Crossroads Live" is a presentation of Morehead State Public Radio and the Kentucky Center for Traditional Music. The event is free and open to the public. Doors open at 7 p.m., and there will be a 15-minute intermission between performances. Drawings for door prizes and other giveaways will be featured during the evening. The concert will be recorded by MSPR for broadcast on Thursday, July 31, at 8 p.m.

Toyota Motor Manufacturing of Georgetown is a corporate sponsor for the series with additional sponsorship by KCTM, Kentucky Folk Art Center, Farmers Mercantile Boots and Shoes, Poppy Mountain Bluegrass Festival and Root-A-Baker's Bakery.

Additional information is available by calling MSPR at (606) 783-2001, or by accessing www.msuradio.com.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. Dan H. Branham, dean of the College of Education at Morehead State University, has been appointed as a replacement member to the Education Professional Standards Board.

Gov. Paul Patton appointed him to represent deans of colleges of education on the board. His term will expire June 7, 2004.

The Education Professional Standards Board is the Kentucky agency that certifies professional staff for the public schools.

No stranger to the education field, Dr. Branham has served two stints as deputy superintendent for research and planning and also for programs with the Kentucky Department of Education.

Before coming to MSU in 2001, he had served as superintendent in Boyd and Martin counties as well as the Beechwood school districts. He is a former director of a consortium that conducts assessments and initiates professional development activities related to the Kentucky Education Reform Act.

He holds membership in numerous professional organizations including American Educational Research Association and American Association of School Administrators.

Dr. Branham earned the A.B. degree in biological sciences from Trevecca Nazarene University in Nashville, Tenn., an M.A. degree in educational administration and science from Morehead State, and the Ed.D. degree in educational administration and research from the University of Mississippi. He is certified as a school superintendent in Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Bluegrass band True Blue and veteran dulcimer player Madeline MacNeil will perform at the next "Americana Crossroads Live" concert on Friday, June 27, at Morehead State University.

True Blue will take the stage at 8:30 p.m. The sound of the California-based band has been labeled "fresh, yet steeped in the soul of Bill Monroe and the rhythmic feel of Flatt & Scruggs."

True Blue features veteran musicians whose careers have spanned three decades in various West Coast bluegrass bands. Del Williams, lead singer, is the son of Vern Williams who was one of the pioneers of California bluegrass.

Ed Neff is the band's mandolinist, fiddler and tenor singer. Avram Siegel is widely recognized in the West for his rhythmic, inventive banjo style. Allison Fisher is the fourth member on stand-up bass and contributes the tenor vocal on some of the group's duets and trios.

MacNeil will open the show at 7:30 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall in Baird Music Hall on the campus.

The "Americana Crossroads Live" concert series, presented by Morehead State Public Radio and the Kentucky Center for Traditional Music, is free and open to the public. Doors open at 7 p.m. and there will be a 15-minute intermission between performances. Those attending the event are eligible for door prizes.

Morehead State Public Radio will record the concert for broadcast on Thursday, July 3, at 8 p.m.

Toyota Motor Manufacturing of Georgetown is a corporate sponsor of the series with additional sponsorship by KCTM, Kentucky Folk Art Center, Farmers Mercantile Boots and Shoes, Poppy Mountain Bluegrass Festival and Root-A-Baker's Bakery.

The "Best of Americana Crossroads Live, Vol. III" CD is now available, featuring 18 songs from the series, including Kate Campbell, J.D. Crowe and New South, Ann and Phil Case.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Two childcare associates with Morehead State University's Child Development Center have earned Child Development Associate (CDA) credentials from the Council for Professional Recognition in Washington, D.C.

Frances Riley, infant teacher, and Emma Wallace, toddler teacher, both of Morehead, completed the application process earlier this year. A representative of the early childhood profession evaluated them during an interview and oral and written tests during an on-site visit.

Before applying for the credentials, the childcare workers took classes dealing with early childhood as well as skills training and a practicum.

CDA is the only major national effort to improve childcare by evaluation and recognizing the skills of individuals providing care. The first credential was awarded 25 years ago, and now 46 states plus the District of Columbia include CDA in their childcare regulations.

Parents who use childcare are especially concerned today about their children's welfare. With this in mind, as part of the CDA assessment process, every candidate for the CDA credential is observed working with young children or families by an early childhood professional. In addition, the candidate must demonstrate the ability to work with families to develop children's physical and intellectual capabilities in a safe and healthy learning environment.

MSU's childcare center received a three-star rating from STARS for KIDS NOW earlier this year. The ratings were based on factors associated with superior outcomes for young children such as staff to child ratios, program curriculum and staff education and training.

The center, which opened in 1996, provides an opportunity for student workers to gain field experience and complete degree requirements. It is the only three-STAR rated Type I facility in the Gateway area.

Child care services are provided for MSU's faculty, staff and students for approximately 40 children, ranging in age from 6 weeks to 12 years.

The center is located at 116 Downing Hall. Additional information is available by calling the center at (606) 783-2034.

Childcare staff and parents wanting information on CDA should write to the Council for Professional Recognition at 2460 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20009-3575, or call (202) 265-9090 or 1 (800) 424-4310.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A partner in a Cincinnati law firm is the newest member of Morehead State University's Board of Regents.

Gov. Paul Patton appointed John C. Merchant, of Cincinnati, to a six-year term, expiring June 30, 2009. He replaces Dr. Charles M. Rhodes, of Ashland, whose term expired this June 30.

Merchant graduated with honors from MSU in 1979 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in economics and political science. He earned his law degree at the University of Kentucky in 1982.

For more than 18 years he has been providing advice and performing complex legal work in a variety of setting, including private law firms, the executive branch of state government and political campaigns.

Merchant worked in the Office of the Lieutenant Governor from 1983-87, which included duties as parliamentarian to the lieutenant governor as he presided over the Senate. He left that post to work on the campaign staff of former Gov. Wallace Wilkinson and was a member of the Transition Team in the governor's office in late 1987 and early 1988.

He then moved to the Office of Legal Services in the Finance and Administration Cabinet as a principal assistant and staff attorney.

Merchant joined Peck, Shaffer and Williams in 1991. Three years later, he was named the 21st partner and the firm's first African-American partner. Peck, Shaffer and Williams was established in 1889 and receives national recognition for its leadership in bond law.

He is a past president of the MSU Alumni Association.

Merchant is a member of various professional and civic organizations, including National Association of Securities Professionals, National Association of Bond Lawyers, Board of Editors of The Ohio Lawyer, Ohio State Bar Foundation, Cincinnati Bar Association, Northern Kentucky Bar Association, Kentucky Bar Association, Ohio Bar Association, National Bar Association, and National Forum for Black Public Administrators.

He is a former board member and legal counsel of the Kentucky "Bluegrass" and Cincinnati chapters and former board member of Junior Achievement of Greater Cincinnati.

Merchant and his wife, Debra, live in Cincinnati.

Gov. Patton also reappointed Jean Marie Dorton of Paintsville, an administrator in the Kentucky Community and Technical College System, to a six-year term on the board. She was appointed last fall to fill the unexpired term of Juanita Mills of Lakeside Park, who resigned.

Dorton, director of advancement for Prestonsburg Community College and Mayo Technical College, is a Morehead State alumnus. A member and former chair of the Board of Directors of Friends of the Kentucky Folk Art Center, Inc., she also serves on the Prichard Committee for Academic Excellence, Kentucky Environmental Quality Commission and PRIDE Executive Committee.

Her term will expire June 30, 2009.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MT. STERLING, Ky.---In cooperation with legislators, the school system and business and industry leaders in the area, Morehead State University is expanding its educational opportunities in Montgomery County.

Final touches are being made to the Clay Community Center, located at 3400 Indian Mound Drive in Mt. Sterling. The center will open for classes in the fall.

A multipurpose facility, it will house a conference center and MSU at Mt. Sterling, an education/training center that includes classrooms, compressed video communication and computer lab, and office space.

The decision to build the new facility was made in part because of positive results of a feasibility study prepared by Montgomery Community Development, Inc. The center will provide educational and training opportunities primarily for Montgomery County as well as the surrounding counties of Bath, Bourbon, Clark, Menifee, Nicholas and Powell.

At an estimated cost of $5.5 million, the multipurpose center will offer a place for continuing education and industrial training facilities and provide a centralized location for the performing and visual arts.

The project was the culmination of the efforts of several in the community but none have been more supportive than U.S. Rep. Ernie Fletcher of Lexington. Through his efforts, the center received a $283,500 grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"We are so pleased to be a part of this educational venture," said MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin. "It is exciting to join in a partnership where there is a demand for postsecondary education."

Establishment of the educational/training facility in Mt. Sterling has gained widespread support from the community and members of the legislature. The University has offered classes in Mt. Sterling since 1978. Through the years, enrollment has steadily grown with 208 students taking classes there this year. During the fall term, 33 courses will be offered.

Students may take classes leading to an associate degree in university studies.

Additional information is available by calling MSU Mt. Sterling at (859) 499-0780 or toll free at (866) 870-0809.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---For the 2003 fall semester, a significant word for students and staff of Morehead State University at Prestonsburg will be "new."

The center will have a new director, Lula N. Bowling, in place when classes open in August and later in the fall, MSU Prestonsburg will move into its new home.

With the completion of the $6.65 million regional postsecondary education center on the Prestonsburg Community College campus, MSU Prestonsburg will move its entire operation into 30,000 square feet of that new facility.

The new space will include computer laboratories, distance learning and multi-media classrooms and space for regional economic development.

For more than 30 years, MSU has offered college courses in the Prestonsburg and Floyd County area. Originally, a handful of graduate classes for public school teachers were available at night at local high schools. Within a few years, however, those classes were moved to the campus of PCC.

MSU established a full-time presence in Floyd County in 1991 with the opening of its Big Sandy Extended Campus Center in the Highlands Plaza, adjacent to PCC. It proved that the University was emphasizing its commitment to providing educational opportunities for students from Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike counties.

Renamed in 2000 to become MSU at Prestonsburg, the center today enrolls more than 800 students – the largest enrollment at the extended campus centers- each semester at the undergraduate and graduate levels for traditionally taught day, night and weekend classes, as well as Internet and interactive video classes from the main campus.

As a result of transferring credit from PCC and Mayo Technical College or other accredited institutions, students may earn bachelor's degrees from MSU at Prestonsburg in accounting, computer information sciences, elementary education, management, nursing, social work and university studies.

MSU Prestonsburg also offers a master's degree in business administration, a master's degree in education, and graduate-level professional certification programs in education.

Dr. Roland Burns was the first full-time director of the MSU at Prestonsburg center. Dr. Margaret Lewis succeeded him in 1992 and served until the time of her death in December 2002.

William Duke served as interim director until Bowling was hired.

Additional information on MSU Prestonsburg is available by calling, (606) 886-2405 or toll-free at 800-648-5372.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WEST LIBERTY, Ky.---Through Morehead State University, residents in the West Liberty area have been able to take advantage of attending college courses near their homes in Morgan County for more than 20 years.

In the spring of 2002, a new $5 million classroom and office facility off U.S. 460 at Index opened giving the students a state-of-the-art facility. The new MSU at West Liberty campus includes computer laboratories, distance learning and multi-media classrooms.

Not bad since initially, a handful of graduate classes for public school teachers were available at night at Morgan County High School.

MSU established a full-time presence in Morgan County in 1987. A major reason was to assist in training the staff of the new East Kentucky Correctional Complex, the largest state prison in Kentucky.

A building on Ky. 7 just north of the city limits of West Liberty was remodeled to provide offices and classrooms.

Renamed in 2000 to become MSU at West Liberty, the center today enrolls approximately 500 students each semester at the undergraduate and graduate levels for traditionally taught day, night and weekend classes, as well as Internet and interactive video classes from the main campus.

MSU West Liberty is unique among the University's regional centers because it also includes an Education and Career Center that offers literacy training and prepares undereducated adults for the GED examination that, if taken successfully, can lead to postsecondary education.

Dr. Jonell Tobin has been the director of MSU West Liberty since its opening. The center serves Elliott, Menifee, Morgan, Wolfe and Magoffin counties.

Students may take classes leading to an associate degree in university studies.

Additional information is available by calling MSU West Liberty (606) 743-1500 or toll free at 800-648-5371.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JACKSON, Ky.---By year's end, Morehead State University at Jackson will have a new look that should provide a better astrosphere for its students. Upon completion of the remodeling, MSU Jackson will move into office space in the historic Jefferson Hotel, at 1127 Main Street.

Distance learning classes will be held at the new location while regular classes will continue to be held on the Lees campus. Morehead State University has been offering college courses in Jackson and Breathitt counties for more than 30 years.

It started with a handful of graduate classes for public school teachers were available at night at local high schools. Within a few years, however, those classes were moved to the campus of Lees College, now the Lees College Campus of Hazard Community College.

MSU established a full-time existence in Breathitt County in 1996 with the opening of its Jackson Center in the Bach Building on the Lees campus.

Renamed in 2000 to become MSU at Jackson, the center today enrolls approximately 150 students each semester at the undergraduate and graduate levels for traditionally taught day, night and weekend classes, as well as Internet and interactive video classes from the main campus.

Emphasizing MSU's commitment to providing educational opportunities to the area, the center services students from Breathitt, Knott, Lee, Letcher and Owsley counties.

As a result of transferring credit from HCC, Hazard Technical College, Southeast Community College or any other accredited college, students can earn a bachelor's or master's degree at MSU Jackson in accounting, computer information sciences, elementary education, management, nursing, social work and university studies.

Dr. Jeff Edgens became the first full-time director of MSU Jackson in 2002.

Additional information is available by calling MSU Jackson at (606) 666-2800 or toll free at (800)-729-5225.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ASHLAND, Ky.---It has been more than 30 years since Morehead State University began offering college courses in the Ashland area. In the beginning, only a handful of graduate classes were available at night at local high schools for public school teachers.

Within a few years, however, those classes were moved to the campus of Ashland Community College and later to downtown facilities owned by the Ashland Board of Education.

In 1987, MSU established a full-time presence in Ashland with the opening of its Ashland Area Extended Campus Center offices in the Mayo Arcade.

In 2000, the center was renamed MSU at Ashland and today occupies two floors of the G. B. Johnson Center, former headquarters of Ashland, Inc. More than 400 students enroll each semester at the undergraduate and graduate levels for traditionally taught day, night and weekend classes, as well as Internet and interactive video classes from the main campus.

As a result of transferring credit from ACC, Ashland Technical College or any other accredited college, students can earn a bachelor's degree from MSU Ashland in various programs including accounting, computer information sciences, elementary education, management, nursing and university studies.

Also available at MSU Ashland are master's degrees in business administration and education and graduate-level professional certification programs in education, including Fifth Year and Rank I.

H. Jack Webb, former superintendent of Greenup County Schools, became director of MSU Ashland in 1996. The Ashland campus serves students from Boyd, Carter, Greenup and Lawrence counties.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University has named Lula N. Bowling of Pikeville as director of its MSU at Prestonsburg campus.

Dr. Dan Connell, associate vice president for academic outreach and support, announced the appointment, effective Aug. 4. "We are pleased that someone with her educational background has accepted this post that is so important to our efforts in East Kentucky," he said. "The center has grown tremendously during its more than 10 year history, and the future looks promising as we move into a new facility and increase course offerings."

Bowling will succeed William Duke, who has served as director during the last eight months, since the death of Dr. Margaret Lewis in December.

No stranger to MSU or the East Kentucky area, Bowling has spent more than 20 years developing mentoring, leadership, and organizational and administrative skills. She has vast experience in student services and program development, as well as community outreach and fundraising efforts.

Active in various professional organizations, she is a member of the Kentucky Crisis Response Team, Kentucky Counselor's Association and the Advisory Board for MSU at Prestonsburg.

A part-time instructor in MSU's Department of Leadership and Secondary Education since 1995, she most recently served as a counselor at Mullins Elementary School in Pike County.

Bowling received a Rank 1 in counseling, a master's degree in counseling and certification as a principal from MSU, after earning a bachelor's degree in education from Berea College. She is pursuing an Ed.D. degree in educational administration from Marshall University.

She has been a counselor for the Commonwealth Educational Opportunity Center, assistant director of Trio Programs/Upward Bound at Pikeville College, and the owner/manager of a private business.

Morehead State University has been offering college courses in Prestonsburg and Floyd County for more than 30 years. Initially, a handful of graduate classes for public school teachers were available at night at local high schools. Within a few years, those classes were moved to the campus of Prestonsburg Community College.

MSU established a full-time presence in Floyd County in 1991 with the opening of its Big Sandy Extended Campus Center in the Highlands Plaza shopping center adjacent to PCC.

Renamed in 2000 to MSU at Prestonsburg, the center today enrolls more than 800 students each semester at the undergraduate and graduate levels for traditionally taught day, night and weekend classes and for Internet and interactive video classes from the main campus.

As a result of transferring credit from PCC and Mayo Technical College or other accredited institutions, students can earn bachelor's degrees from MSU at Prestonsburg in various programs including accounting, computer information sciences, elementary education, management, nursing, social work and university studies.

Also available at MSU Prestonsburg are master's degrees in business administration, master's degrees in education and graduate-level professional certification programs in education.

With the completion of the $6.65 million regional postsecondary education center on the PCC campus later this year, MSU at Prestonsburg will move its entire operation into 30,000 square feet at that new facility.

The new space will include computer laboratories, distance learning and multi-media classrooms and space for regional economic development.

Additional information on programs and class registration at MSU Prestonsburg is available by calling (606) 886-2405 or (800) 648-5372.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---When classes begin at Morehead State University at Mt. Sterling this fall, not only will it be in a new facility, it will have its first full-time director.

A Montgomery County resident, Dr. Janet R. Kenney of Mt. Sterling, has been tabbed as the new director of MSU at Mt. Sterling.

"We are fortunate to have an individual with expertise in a variety of areas to direct the new center," said Dr. Dan Connell, MSU associate vice president for academic outreach and support. "Dr. Kenney has been a department chair, a fund raiser, written grants, and served on national boards as well as University committees."

Dr. Kenney, who has been with MSU since July 1994, is a former chair of the Department of Communication and Theatre and an associate professor of radio-TV.

While with the department, she oversaw the planning and implementation of the $14 million renovation and expansion of Breckinridge Hall, which created state-of-the-art classrooms, a flexible theatre and multimedia auditorium. Also during her tenure, major curriculum revisions were implemented and the number of majors in the department increased.

A telecommunications professional, she also served as interim manager of WMKY, the University's public radio station, from January 1997 until June 1998.

Dr. Kenney is a graduate of Temple University and received a master's degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. She earned her Ph.D. degree from the University of Oregon in 1987.

Before coming to MSU, Dr. Kenney was telecommunications coordinator and associate professor at Valdosta State University. She has also worked at Murray State University, University of Oregon and Eastern Kentucky University.

MSU at Mt. Sterling, located in the Clay Community Center, 3400 Indian Mound Drive in Mt. Sterling, will open this fall. A multipurpose facility, it will house not only MSU at Mt. Sterling, an education/training center that includes classrooms, compressed video communication and computer lab, office space but also a conference center.

Kenney--Mt. Sterling director
2-2-2-2-2

The center will provide educational and training opportunities primarily for Montgomery County as well as the surrounding counties of Bath, Bourbon, Clark, Menifee, Nicholas and Powell.

At an estimated cost of $5.5 million, the multipurpose center will offer a place for continuing education and industrial training facilities and provide a centralized location for the performing and visual.

Montgomery County Schools will provide support services in partnership with Morehead State University.

The University has been offering classes in Mt. Sterling since 1978. Through the years, enrollment has steadily grown with more than 200 students taking classes in the spring. Thirty-three classes will be offered in the 2003 fall semester.

Additional information is available by calling MSU at Mt Sterling at (859) 499-0780 or toll free at (866) 870-0809.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---One hundred and thirty educators gathered on the Morehead State University campus to attend the Advanced Placement Program, July 7-11.

The weeklong Advanced Placement Summer Institute, offered through a partnership with The College Board, provided information that was beneficial to middle and high school teachers when teaching AP courses. Among the participants were those from Tennessee, Virginia, Michigan, Ohio, Texas as well as Kentucky.

This is the third year MSU has offered the institute, which provided in-depth instruction and interaction with session leaders and workshops that focus on positive and effective teaching strategies, as well as practical classroom use of AP materials

Classes were offered in biology, calculus AB, English language, English literature, environmental science, Spanish language, statistics, U.S. government and politics, and U.S. history.

During the week, the group heard from a host of representatives from the education profession, including Letisha Seabrook-Jones of Atlanta on behalf of The College Board.

More than half of the nation's high schools now take part in the Advanced Placement Program, which allows students to study subjects of interest, while motivating and challenging them to a more rigorous performance. The College Board, a national non-profit membership association dedicated to preparing, inspiring and connecting students to college, provides educators with information, tools and strategies needed to build and strengthen their professional skills and techniques.

Additional information is available by calling Tina Stafford, MSU regional campus coordinator and AP Summer Institute director, at (606) 783-2605 or (800) 585-6781, option 3.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A Virginia-based band that bears the name of its award-winning lead vocalist will perform at the next presentation of the popular "Americana Crossroads Live" concert series at Morehead State University on Friday, July 25.

The Jeanette Williams Band will perform at 8:30 p.m. at Duncan Recital Hall within Baird Music Hall. Frankfort-based Bluegrass band No Tools Loaned will open the free event at 7:30 p.m.

Performing a mixture of original, traditional, gospel and Bluegrass music, the Jeanette Williams Band is led by Williams, a veteran vocalist and songwriter who is a former member of the Bluegrass band Clearwater. She was a 2000 and 2001 nominee for Female Vocalist by the Society for the Preservation of Bluegrass Music in America (SPBGMA), and performed on the 2000 International Bluegrass Music Association awards show.

The group also includes Williams' husband, Johnny, who manages the band in addition to playing guitar, songwriting and singing. Others include Marsha Bowman on banjo and vocals and Stephen Fraleigh on fiddle, mandolin and guitar.

Their debut release on Bell Buckle Records is "Too Blue," featuring traditional gospel, and original songs by Paul Williams, Lynn Morris and others. The band's popular song "I Ought to Know You" is also on the album.

"Americana Crossroads Live" is a presentation of Morehead State Public Radio and the Kentucky Center for Traditional Music. The event is free and open to the public. Doors open at 7 p.m., with a 15-minute intermission between performances. Drawings for door prizes and other giveaways will be featured during the evening. The concert will be recorded by MSPR for broadcast on Thursday, July 31, at 8 p.m.

Toyota Motor Manufacturing of Georgetown is a corporate sponsor for the series with additional sponsorship by KCTM, Kentucky Folk Art Center, Farmers Mercantile Boots and Shoes, Poppy Mountain Bluegrass Festival and Root-A-Baker's Bakery. FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Anyone who has recently lost a job, or who is seeking better employment is encouraged to attend a special forum in Ashland on Thursday, July 31, from 8:30 a.m. until noon.

Sponsored by Morehead State University's Ashland Small Business Development Center, the "Economic and Workforce Development Forum" will feature a panel of local economic, entrepreneurial, educational and employment/workforce development officials who will address concerns and questions. The forum, to be held at Elite Catering in downtown Ashland, will be presented by the Kentucky Small Business Development Centers, Rep. Ken Lucas and the Ashland Alliance.

Representatives from MSU and Ashland Community and Technical College, Manpower Temporary Services and Kelly Temporary Services will be among the participants. Invited panelists include Rep. Lucas, Ashland Mayor Steve Gilmore and representatives from SBDC, the Ashland Alliance, the City of Ashland's Economic Development Office, ACTC's Entrepreneur Center, FIVCO-ADD, Kentucky Department for Employment Services and Kentucky Department of Vocational Rehabilitation.

"Our goal is to inform the community about the many employment, educational and entrepreneurial opportunities available to them," said Kim Jenkins, director of MSU's Ashland SBDC. "There should be something for everyone, including those who plan to re-enter the workforce, change careers, start or continue their education, or open a small business."

Former employees of Applied Card Systems and Kentucky Electric Steel, as well as others who are finding it difficult to locate jobs in the area, are particularly encouraged to attend.

The event is free and open to the public, but pre-registration is necessary. Additional information on the forum and registration are available by calling (606) 329-8011.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---As the start of the fall semester draws near at Morehead State University, many people are beginning to look ahead toward the annual Homecoming festivities.

"MSU Homecoming 2003-We Want You Back!" will officially kick off with the Homecoming parade on Thursday, Oct. 16, at 6:30 p.m. on Main Street in downtown Morehead. All community, civic and student groups are invited to join the festivities by submitting a float for the parade.

Cash prizes for first, second and third place winners will be awarded in both the community/civic and student group categories.

Float theme approval forms are available by calling Cheryl Farmer at (606) 783-2809. Completed forms must be returned by Friday, Sept. 26.

Homecoming weekend activities will continue with many more events, including the Hall of Fame Banquet on Friday evening, Oct. 17, and various alumni reunions and the football game against Davidson on Saturday, Oct. 18. During the game, the 2003 Homecoming queen and king will be crowned.

Additional information on Homecoming is available by calling Tami Jones, director of alumni relations, at (606) 783-2080.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State Public Radio's popular "Americana Crossroads Live" live concert program is now broadcast on public stations throughout the state of Mississippi.

The addition of the eight Mississippi stations brings the total number of "Americana" affiliates to 22, according to Paul Hitchcock, MSPR general manager. The broadcast areas of the newest partners cover the entire state, and into certain areas of those states bordering Mississippi.

Stations in Booneville, Biloxi, Greenwood, Bude, Oxford, Meridian, Jackson and at Mississippi State recently began airing the series, which showcases Bluegrass, folk and other classic American styles of music. Other "Americana" affiliates are located in British Columbia; Arkansas State University; Edmond, Okla.; Burlington, Wis.; Columbus, Ohio; London, Ohio; Urbana, Ill.; Russells Point, Ohio and Gainesville, Fla.

Additionally, MSPR's network stations, WOCS LeRose/Booneville and W202BH Inez, broadcast the programs.

"Americana Crossroads Live" concerts are held the last Friday of each month in Duncan Recital Hall within Baird Music Hall on the Morehead State University campus. Recordings of the free concerts are then broadcast for future programs. The performances are sponsored by MSPR and the University's Kentucky Center for Traditional Music.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Award winning Morehead State Public Radio looked within when selecting its new leader.

Paul Hitchcock, a 16-year veteran of MSPR and former music and production director, has been named the new general manager. He replaces Dan Conti, who left Morehead State University to pursue other career opportunities.

"I am grateful for this opportunity at Morehead State Public Radio," said Hitchcock. "We have an extraordinary staff of professionals, students and volunteers and I look forward to working with them in this new position.

"Dan did a wonderful job for us as general manager and worked extremely hard in the formation of the MSPR network. I extend my appreciation for his hard work and dedication."

Conti was instrumental in the formation of the Morehead State Public Radio network, adding WOCS-FM in Owsley County. He also increased MSPR's membership and underwriting base.

Hitchcock started with MSPR (then known as WMKY) in 1986, serving most recently as the network's program and production director. He received a bachelor's degree in radio/TV-journalism from Georgetown College and a master's degree in communications from MSU.

In addition to his managerial duties, Hitchcock hosts "Acoustic Highway" and "Nothin' But The Blues." He also produces the monthly "Americana Crossroads Live" concert series and holds membership in the Americana Music Association, the Blues Foundation and the Kentuckiana Blues Society.

In 2000, Hitchcock was recognized with a national award for Best Local Music/Entertainment Series from the National Federation of Community Broadcasters for the "U.S. 23 Showcase" series. He was a finalist for the same award this year for "Americana Crossroads Live."

The 22-year broadcasting veteran looks forward to the opportunity of serving the listeners of Morehead State Public Radio, providing public radio programming that is entertaining, informational and educational.

“The University has been very supportive of MSPR and our ‘Americana Crossroads Live’ concert series and I hope to continue to work with other units in our division, such as the Kentucky Center for Traditional Music and the Kentucky Folk Art Center on future projects of interest to the community,” said Hitchcock.

Jonese Franklin, a 2002 MSU graduate from Versailles, has been named the interim music and production director at MSPR.

Additional information is available from Hitchcock by calling (606) 783-2001.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Those who have not pre-registered for fall classes at Morehead State University will have one last opportunity to do so at the last Student Orientation, Advising and Registration (SOAR) program of the summer on Friday, Aug. 1.

SOAR sessions are designed to acquaint students and their families with the University, including academic programs, special services, student activities and residence hall life.

"If they haven't already attended a session, it is very important for all new students to attend this last session," said Joel Pace, director of admissions.

"We still have classes available and we still have openings in residence halls for fall," Pace said. "It's not too late to come to SOAR."

Activities will begin at 9 a.m. in the Office of Admissions, located in 301 Howell-McDowell Administration Building. The participants will schedule classes, apply for housing and finalize financial aid.

Students also may register for classes at all off campus locations, even if they wish to attend class on the main campus. However, only schedules will be available at the extended campus centers.

The first stop for participants should be the admissions office. They will then be provided information and directions to the academic areas, as necessary.

So that the necessary materials will be on hand, SOAR pre-registration is necessary. Students may register online at MSU's Web site at www.moreheadstate.edu. Once online, select "Prospective Students" and then follow the instructions for registering for SOAR.

Additional information on the SOAR session and other MSU opportunities is available from the Office of Admissions by calling (606) 783-2000 or (800) 585-6781.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University senior Jeremy K. Edmiston has been spending his summer traveling across the United States as a member of the "Journey of Hope" bicycle team to raise awareness of people with disabilities.

Edmiston traveled to California to meet up with other members of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity for the Push America program. The team departed San Francisco on June 15 and plans to arrive in Washington, D.C. on Aug. 16. The team will visit more than 60 cities and log more than 3,800 miles by bicycle.

On the ride, Edmiston is serving as a crew leader on the support team for the cyclists. Along the way, the Journey of Hope team will make appearances and sponsor events for those with disabilities.

Edmiston's team will travel through Cleveland, Ohio, on Aug. 8.

A member and past president of MSU's Delta Eta Chapter, Edmiston is the son of Alex Edmiston of Hatfield in Pike County.

The bicycle trip is the flagship event of the Push America program, sponsored by Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. Earlier this summer, fraternity brother Jared Rosselot, the son of Jerry and Debbie Rosselot of Fayetteville, Ohio, rode his bike in the "Gear-Up Florida" trip from Miami to Tallahassee, Fla., logging more than 800 miles.

A separate team, called the Journey of Hope Anniversary Team will travel through Morehead and spend the night at Morehead State University on Sunday, Aug. 3. The team will co-host a friendship visit at the Morehead City Park at 5 p.m. for those with disabilities. The event is free and open to the public.

The 15th Anniversary Team is comprised of alumni who have ridden on previous Journey of Hope trips. There are a total of three teams traveling across the United States this summer. Edmiston is traveling with the North Team. The third team, called the South Team, is making its way across the southern part of the United States.

Additional information about the Push America program is available from its Web site at www.pushamerica.org.

July 29, 2003

By Shirley Smith
MSU Staff Writer

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The new director of the George M. Luckey Academic Honors Program at Morehead State University has some very specific goals he wants to help his students meet.

"In four years, I want them to be intellectually confident, self-assessing persons who have taste in sight, sound, word and action; who are spiritually grounded, physically active and civically engaged."

Dr. Marshall Chapman says those goals encompass his job as director.

"To get them there is the whole makeup of the honors program and the honors program experience."

Dr. Chapman, MSU associate professor of geology, took over the reins of MSU's 40-year-old honors program July 1. He succeeded Dr. George "Mac" Luckey, for whom the program was recently named, and who retired earlier this year.

"Mac Luckey set a wonderful foundation for the past 12 years," Dr. Chapman said. "And by his laying that foundation, that frees me to try and do other things."

Although the honors academic curriculum will remain basically unchanged, the "other things" include a specific daily plan for a wide range of activities to be offered to the students,

Alternate Mondays will feature leadership development, and "high table," which Dr. Chapman calls "Pizza with the Professor." At the high table, invited professors will make a 30 to 60-minute presentation about their field of expertise, and the MSU program in which they teach.

A half-hour class on meditation, followed by a seminar on religious thought will be offered each Tuesday. Dr. Chapman hopes to use these seminars to broaden the students' scope on religion.

Wednesdays will feature the Personal Development Institute, a course of study begun by former MSU First Lady Mignon Doran. The institute gives the students lessons on such lifestyle topics as etiquette, dressing, personal habits and much more.

"PDI is new this year in the honors program, and we hope this will help give them an edge," Dr. Chapman said.

Rounding out the week will be classic film seminars on Thursdays and high teas on Fridays.

Dr. Chapman said the extra life lessons taught at these daily events are aimed at creating not only scholars, but also well-rounded members of society with a professional edge.

“Ideally, 100 percent of our honor grads will get into the graduate school he or she applies to, or the professional job they want.”

Dr. Chapman plans to build on the honors program to the extent that five years from now, when a high school senior gets an acceptance letter from Centre College, Transylvania University and MSU, “I want it to be a hard decision on which school to choose,” he said. “In 10 years, I don’t want it to be a hard decision at all – they’re coming to Morehead State.”

Students who are admitted into the honors program must have met certain minimum requirements, including having an ACT score of 26, being in the top 10 percent of their high school class, and a high school GPA of 3.5 or better. But other variables are considered for final selections, such as the demonstration of leadership ability, extracurricular and community activities.

“You’re going to get a perk being in the honors program,” he said. “You’re also going to get a push, but the end result will be well worth the push.”

Dr. Chapman said this fall’s freshman honors class is currently at 87, and that the program’s retention rate is at 87 percent. He credits Dr. Bev McCormick and the Honors Leadership Residential College for contributing significantly to retention successes.

When it comes to being a well-rounded individual, Dr. Chapman practices what he preaches.

He holds a bachelor’s degree in religion from the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn., and a master’s degree in geology and a doctoral degree in geosciences from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. His academic interests include extensive studies of volcanoes. One of his more recent research projects involved sampling lava flows of the volcano Mauna Loa from the ocean floor off the coast of the Big Island of Hawaii, and mapping the sea floor around the island using side-scan sonar.

Dr. Chapman enjoys cross-country skiing, sea-kayaking, restoring and driving Model A cars and hiking. He also plays banjo and guitar, and will test soon for his black belt in aikido.

Additionally, he says he has met with the Episcopal Commission on Ministry, and is an aspirant in the process of becoming a priest in the Episcopal Church.

He and his wife Margaret have two daughters, Rebecca, age 3, and Caroline, age 3 months. Mrs. Chapman is a commercial pilot, and was formerly an instructor for Air Force fighter jet pilots. Dr. Chapman jokes that he and his wife are “Top Gun” and “Top Geek.”

He will use his varied talents to help motivate the honors students into realizing their potential. “These students will be our professionals someday,” he said. “What I want to do is give them an Ivy League, small college, liberal arts education at bargain basement MSU prices.”

Additional information on the program is available by calling Dr. Chapman at (606) 783-2807.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---More than 70 motorcyclists riders participated in the ride that paid tribute to the memory of the late Dr. Margaret Lewis as Morehead State University at Prestonsburg held its first event to raise funds for the "Margaret Lewis Scholarship Fund."

"We feel like it was very successful," said William Duke, interim director of MSU at Prestonsburg. "Knowing Dr. Lewis, she would have loved this."

The group left MSU Prestonsburg, stopped at MSU at West Liberty, before traveling to the main campus in Morehead for lunch and some games. The day concluded with the ride back to Prestonsburg and the awarding of prizes to contest winners.

MSU Prestonsburg established the scholarship fund in name of its former director, who died in an automobile accident in December 2002. The fund will assist students attending classes at MSU Prestonsburg.

Everyone that participated was a winner, but certain individuals won awards, according to the ride coordinators, Gary Coleman of Paintsville, a member of the MSU at Prestonsburg Advisory Board; Dawonna Prater, extended campus assistant at MSU Prestonsburg, and Tina Stafford, extended campus coordinator on the main campus. "We are very grateful to everyone for their support," they said.

Among the winners accepting prizes in the various categories were:

Slow race: George Helton of Hurley, Va.

Ball drop: Danny Fields of Wittensville.

50/50 winner: Mike Edmonds of Pikeville.

Best of Show Stock: Mitch Lester of Phelps.

MSU Prestonsburg received donations for the ride from numerous businesses including Cato's; Microtel Inn; Citizens National Bank; First Commonwealth Bank; Holiday Inn; Alys Fraley Photography; Harley Davidson of Prestonsburg and Pikeville; Pizza Hut; Merle Norman Cosmetic Studios; Jenny Wiley Florist; County at Heart; Jenny Wiley Theater;

Speedway of Martin and Prestonsburg; McDonald's; Readmore Book Store; Pepsi Inc.; FoodLand; Food City; Wal-Mart in Prestonsburg and Pikeville; The Sign Design of Denver; G and A Variety; Perkins Leather Shop of Owingsville;

Harold B. Rice; Larry Blackburn; M and R Trucking Inc, of Belcher; Bill Hall; Sleepy Hollow Tattoos of Paintsville; American Driving Academy of Wittensville; Collins Trophies and T's of Banner; Gary Coleman; and Shoney's of Paintsville.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Staff Congress has elected new officers for the 2003-04 academic year.

Lora Pace, first year program director in Academic Support and Retention, was re-elected chair. She earned a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in 1989 and a master's degree in adult and higher education in 1994, both from MSU. She worked as a residence hall director and as area coordinator in the Office of Student Housing from 1990-96 before assuming her current position.

Pace previously served on the Staff Congress from 1995-96 and again during the 2001-02 academic year. She is a member of the Scholarship Committee, the University-Wide Retention Task Force and the Holiday Dinner Committee. She chair's the University's MSU 101 Advisory Committee and serves as an MSU 101 instructor.

She and her husband, Joel, MSU director of admissions, have two children, Bethany and Alex.

Stephanie Highley Stewart was elected vice chair. She has served as a Staff Congress representative since 1996 and is a past member of the Employees Benefits Committee and former vice chair of the Standing Appointments Committee, which she will chair during the coming year.

Stewart is document coordinator in the Office of Document Services, a position she has held since March 2002. She previously worked as the customer service representative in the same unit, since joining the MSU staff in 1995.

Currently pursuing a bachelor's degree, Stewart earned an associate degree in 1997. She serves as bowling coordinator on the University Games Committee.

Stewart and her husband, Burnsey, live in Salt Lick, with their six-year-old son, Garrison. She will serve on the Salt Lick Elementary School Site Based Council as a parent member for 2003-04.

Rhonda Crisp, secretary specialist in the Office of Career Services, was re-elected secretary. An MSU employee since 1991, she is serving her second term as secretary with the group.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Police Department underwent a compliance audit in June by the Commonwealth of Kentucky Department of Criminal Justice Training.

The purpose of the audit, that is conducted every three years, is to ensure that requirements to participate and receive funds from the Kentucky Law Enforcement Foundation Program Fund (KLEFPF) are being met.

"I would like to thank Chief (Joe) Cline for his work and cooperation during the visit," said Ron Godsey, investigator manager of the compliance section.

"Morehead State is in compliance. KLEFPF pay supplements are being distributed in accordance with Kentucky law."

The philosophy of the program is to support Commonwealth peace officers through training provided by the Department of Criminal Justice Training (DOCJT) and to reward the participating officers through a pay incentive stipend.

Each year, MSU officers must complete 40 hours of in-state or out-of-state training to be eligible for the stipend.

University Police Departments are eligible to participate in KLEFPF. Departments are considered individually, against a set eligibility criteria as established by law

"The KLEFPF is a great program," said Chief Cline. "The police field is a very competitive field, and with this KLEFPF funding, it helps us to keep good officers here at Morehead State University."

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A Morehead State University sophomore has recreated a "poster wall" once used as a traveling display meant to inspire factory workers during World War II.

Amanda Hankinson, Morehead sophomore public relations major, rebuilt the poster wall on computer as an assignment in her desktop publishing class. She was then invited to a conference in Lexington to display her work for Kentucky educators and state officials, including Gov. Paul Patton.

To complete the extensive project, Hankinson used two different desktop publishing software packages: QuarkXPress and InDesign.

During a class taught by Dr. Ken Sexton, assistant professor of journalism, Hankinson said she became fascinated by a photograph of a patriotic, World-War-II-era display that was moved from factory to factory to motivate American workers.

"I was determined to reproduce that display as accurately as I could," she said.

Her project was part of a group of class assignments, which used government-issued patriotic images, called "Victory Art."

"There has been a popular rebirth of patriotic images from the Depression and World War eras. Whole or parts of images are being cleverly borrowed or adapted for modern use," said Dr. Sexton.

"But few students take on a project as extensive as Hankinson's," he added.

Hankinson's finished artwork, printed on two 3'X 5' sheets (30 square feet) was displayed at a meeting of the Kentucky Council on Postsecondary Education, held at the Marriott Resort in Lexington. During the meeting, educators caught up on educational progress in the state and saw Hankinson's resurrection of colorful graphics that hadn't been publicly displayed since 1943.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University student Violet Vago has combined two of her passions: art and physical therapy.

An employee of St. Claire Regional Medical Center's HomeCare for the past 17 years, Vago believes that art can help with the healing process. She has been given an opportunity to expand her outlook.

Vago was selected for The Creative Center's Training Program for Hospital Artists, which was held in New York. She was one of 10 trainees picked from the U.S. and Italy.

The National Training Program for Hospital Artists-In-Residence provides professional training to artists worldwide to work with cancer patients in their hometown medical centers, clinics and hospitals.

A physical therapist for 18 years, Vago has expanded her interest and participation in physical healing into healing of a more holistic nature—mind, body and spirit—as an outgrowth of her exploration of visual art making.

"After working for many years with people at a highly stressful time of their lives, such as following an injury, the degree and rate of healing was profoundly affected by the attitude of the injured individual toward changes in their life," she said.

"I came to realize that thought is energy and it is powerful. When thought is verbalized or transformed into a visual image, it becomes even more powerful. As I have been attracted to the visual arts since childhood, it seemed natural to use images as a tool to express those emotions and experiences that go deeper than words."

Vago's work was included in a "healingArt" exhibit that was first shown in 2001 as part of the Breast Cancer Awareness Month. The display focused on the ways art can be used for healing purposes, as therapeutic expression of emotions, management of illness-induced stresses on patients and their families, prevention of burnout for medical professionals, and the creation of uplifting visuals in support of positive imaging.

The Training Program featured seminars, workshops and open studios led by artists, physicians, nurses and psychologists from New York's leading educational and medical centers.

This year's program was underwritten by Bristol Myers-Squibb, which covered a portion of the trainees' expenses. Internships at major medical centers, case presentations, discussions and training materials that focus on the multiplicity of issues encountered in working within a medical setting were provided during the week-long institute.

"She is such a talented lady," said Lois Vice, St. Claire's administrative director of HomeCare. "She works extremely well with children, and has made them the focus of her practice in the last few years. I am so proud of her and wish her the very best."

The Creative Center is a community of artists, cancer patients and survivors, trustees, donors, and friends who are dedicated to bringing creative arts to people living with cancer.

Through offering free-of-charge workshops at its location on 26th Street in New York and through a bedside art program in hospitals throughout the New York area, the Center brings the world of art to more than 6,000 participants each year.

Exhibits, both in the Creative Center Gallery and in venues throughout the country, featured the work of both professional and non-professional artists, offering proof of the depth and diversity of the individual artistic expression of cancer patients who are often viewed as representatives of their disease rather than unique individuals.

A Mason County native who now lives in Salt Lick, Vago is a graduate of the University of Kentucky where she earned a bachelor's degree in health science. She also has taken classes at the University of Maryland while serving in the U.S. Navy and is currently an MSU graduate student in art. She has worked in several health care facilities including Bellefonte Hospital, Appalachian Regional Medical Center and the Lexington Physical Therapy Group before moving to Morehead.

A prolific artist, Vago does a variety of media including drawing, wood, stained glass and watercolor, which she describes as her favorite.

Paul Hitchcock is the general manager at Morehead State Public Radio. Additional information: (606) 783-2334.

THEATRE

- Oct. 7-11      "Good News," Lucille Little Theatre in Breckinridge Hall, 7:30 p.m., except Oct. 12, 2 p.m. College life in the 1920s set to music with football heroes, pretty coeds, stern professors and shoe-stopping Broadway hit tunes, including "The Varsity Drag" and "The Best Things in Life Are Free." Fun for all ages.
- Nov. 18-22      "Antigone," Lucille Little Theatre in Breckinridge Hall, 7:30 p.m., except Nov. 23, 2 p.m. Creon, King of Thebes, forbids the burial of his nephew, Polyneices, a leader of the recent civil war. Antigone disobeys Creon's edict and buries her brother. Her daring act of civil disobedience challenges the power of the State in this masterpiece of Greek tragedy.

- March 11-13 "Pippin," Button Auditorium, 7:30 p.m. The young Prince Pippin, son of King Charlemagne the Great, seeks the secret of true happiness in love, war and politics. Finally he discovers fulfillment in the simple pleasures of home and family. This clever modern fairy tale was a Broadway hit and continues to entertain audiences of all ages. The score of Oscar-winning composer Stephen Schwartz ranges from melodic ballads to exciting dance numbers.
- April 13-17 "Orpheus Descending," Lucille Little Theatre in Breckinridge Hall, 7:30 p.m., except April 18, 2 p.m. A powerful drama by the author of "A Streetcar Named Desire" and "The Glass Menagerie." In a small town in the 1940s South, Lady, the daughter of Italian immigrants, is a strong-willed, lonely outsider. Into her life comes Val, a wandering musician. Longing for love and understanding, they form a relationship in the midst of bigotry and hostility. Humorous, poetic and violent, with an array of colorful characters, "Orpheus Descending" is Williams at his most compelling.
- Dec. 4-6 Second Stage Season: "String Geese Fish Rain," Button Stage, 7:30 p.m. When Corbitt's day starts off with his car being totaled by a huge cod falling from the sky, he thinks it can't get any worse. It can. When he finds out the Atlantic Ocean's gone, he thinks it can't get any worse. It can. His only refuge is a bar. His only hope is that somehow, he can change his luck. Things can't get any worse. Right?

Admission for the regular productions is by season membership, $60 per person or $80 per couple, or by single admission tickets at $8 for adults and $2 for senior citizens, high school students and children. Admission for the Second Stage Season production is $3 per person with the proceeds benefiting theatre scholarships. Dr. Robert H. Hillenbrink is chair of the Department of Communication and Theatre. Dr. Travis Lockhart is the coordinator of theatre. Additional information: (606) 783-2170.
